Every idea starts as an opportunity to improve. Ours was simple: find a better way to serve our industries and assist our clients in accomplishing their goals while improving the environment and reducing energy.

AmerInd, Inc. is a third-generation American Indian family-owned and operated business founded in 1957 by Roy T. Beard, Jr. AmerInd was started because we knew there was a better way to serve the industry and we wanted to help our clients through our outstanding stewardship, leadership, and cooperation. Just like our founder's ancestor Nanyehi, also known as Nancy Ward, who served as the only voting female member of the Cherokee General Council in the 1700s and a negotiator with European settlers, our employees (team members) exemplify the stewardship, leadership, and cooperation traits of our founders and their ancestors.
